To: UBC PGME Year – One residents (RI) commencing Residency on July 1, 2022

Re: Save the Date – June 28, 2022 Occupational Health and Safety Orientation

As part of the Collective Agreement, all incoming RIs are asked to participate in an orientation day that will focus on occupational health and safety before residency rotations commence. We ask that that all incoming RIs reserve June 28, 2022 to participate in the orientation. The orientation will consist of virtual sessions and online modules.

Participation in the orientation by RIs is mandatory. Residents will be compensated at their regular hourly pay for participating.

Further details about participating in the orientation and topics covered will be provided as soon as they are available.
